

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

(A.) A certain Balance must of necessity appear on the face of the Accounts Current in the hands of each Deputy (upwards of 500) at the expiration of every Quarter, which Balance, by the Operation of the Remittances by Instalments, will be nearly discharged in five days after the Quarter closes.

(B.) Balances in the course of Payment; in liquidation of which, Bills to the amount of £. 124. 19. have been remitted since Quarter-day.

(C.) The Balances from the West India Deputies (17 in number) are in regular course of Payment, and Bills to the amount of £. 1,042. have been remitted since Quarter-day.

(D.) Balances in the course of liquidation.

(E.) This Balance is by estimate; and must necessarily be large, as a considerable Sum will always appear to be due, before the Deputy Postmaster General of Jamaica can have received the Letters, and collected the Postage thereon, from the 38 Deputies in the interior part of the Island; it is in the course of liquidation, and £. 1,600 has been received since Quarter-day.

(F.) The first of these Balances is due from a former Postmaster, against whom legal proceedings have been instituted. As a set-off against the latter Balance, there are claims for unliquidated Law Expenses, the particulars of which have not yet been received from the Island.

(H.) The reasons which apply to letter (A.) are strictly applicable to these Balances, which are in the hands of upwards of 200 persons.

(I.) This Balance has been since remitted.

(K.) The great distance will account for these large Balances. Remittances in discharge thereof to the amount of £. 267. 10. 10. have been since received.

(L.) Of this Balance, £. 5,720. 9. 4. has been remitted since Quarter-day.

(M.) The greater part of this was advanced for weekly wages to Letter Carriers, and Copper in hand.

(N.) In liquidation of these Balances, Bills to the amount of £. 1,009. 2. 10. have been remitted since Quarter-day.

March 20th, 1821.

Appendix (I.)

An Account of the several PAYMENTS made in the Year ended 5th January 1821, in respect of Loans, Remittances, and Advances, to other Countries; specifying the Total Amount of each respectively.

Expenses incurred by 33 sick Seamen belonging to His Majesty the King of the Netherlands, ship Prince Frederick, at the Naval Hospital at Plymouth, between the 15th October 1819 and 1st March 1820 -	£. 103 5 —
Funeral Expenses of two Men who died in the Hospital -	1 7 —
	104 12 —
	£. 1,229 12 —

N.B.—THE Value of all Supplies furnished to Foreign Powers being included in the Accounts of Expenditure by the Army, Navy, and Ordnance Departments, the Total Amount of such Supplies should be deducted therefrom; but as it is the usual practice to repay to the Ordnance and Naval Departments the value of the Stores furnished by them, by Warrants upon the Paymaster General, the total deduction may be made from the Army Expenditure.

Whenever any Supplies have been furnished by the Board of Ordnance, the value thereof must be deducted from the Total Expenditure by that Board, as they give in their Accounts the Total Payments made by them in each Year, and consequently when the Amount of Stores supplied by them are repaid by the Paymaster General, those Sums are disbursed for other Services, and again appear in the Ordnance Accounts; the Naval Account comprises only the money issued from the Exchequer, and the Expenditure thereof.

Retired Allowances	£. 220.	Nil.	By a Retired Allowance granted to Francis Lear, esq. who held the office of Providore, from the 12th April 1815 to the 1st November 1820. The Salary of this office was £. 500 per annum; its duties consisted in the receipt and delivery of the provisions of the In-pensioners, and in the payment of the bills of the Contractors for provisions, and other disbursements to a large amount. The payment of all money being transferred from this officer, by the Board, to the Paymaster, and his responsibility being consequently diminished, the Governors directed that the Salary of the Providore should be reduced to ten shillings per diem on the next vacancy, and Mr. Lear having expressed his willingness to resign on receiving such compensation as might be deemed reasonable, an allowance of £. 220. per annum was granted to him, causing a present saving of £. 97. 10s. and a future decrease of expense of £. 317. 10s. per annum.
	£. 45.	-	Alexander Forrest, gardener, was superannuated, and granted an allowance of £. 45 per annum, being two-thirds of his Salary and Emoluments, he having become incapable of performing the duties of his office from ill health, having served 25 years, and being 59 years of age.

JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL'S OFFICE.

ON the 24th of April in this year, Francis Paterson, esq. who had been 30 years, and upwards, Judge Advocate General for Ireland, with a salary of 30 s. per day, or £. 547. 10 s. per annum, and an allowance of £. 100 per annum for Clerk, Office, Stationery, &c. &c. retired on a salary of £. 365 per annum, being two-thirds of his pay only, at which time the office of Judge Advocate General for Ireland was abolished, and the jurisdiction of the Judge Advocate General of England was extended to Ireland; and the Right honourable J. Beckett, as Judge Advocate General of the United Kingdom, appointed Robert Grove Leslie, esq. who had been for nearly 20 years the Deputy of Mr. Paterson to be Deputy Judge Advocate General for Ireland, and the Department has now become a branch of the English office.

Mr. Leslie, in his former situation, had a salary of £. 420 per annum, and now enjoys a salary of 30 s. per day, or £. 547. 10 s. per annum, with the said allowance of £. 100 per annum, and is the only permanent officer in the Department. In consequence of this arrangement, there is a Decrease of one officer in the Department, and a permanent Diminution of £. 420 per annum, being the salary of the Deputy under the old establishment, which is contingently counterbalanced by £. 365 per annum, the retired salary of Mr. Paterson. It may be observed, that the future contingency of retirement is narrowed from two officers to one.

COMMISSARIAT BRANCH OF THE TREASURY:

THIS Department did not exist in 1793, but was created from the 25th October 1816, when the office of the commissary in chief was abolished; and the numbers upon the establishment were increased from the 25th March 1820, when the office of storekeeper general was abolished, and the duties transferred to this department. But no increase of salary has taken place since the establishment was formed.

N° 2.—SOLICITOR OF THE TREASURY.

THE Amount of the salary of the Solicitor of the Treasury in the year 1793 was £. 1,000 per annum; but in addition to this the solicitor was allowed a bill of cravings, which it appears, in that year, amounted to £. 326. 17s. He likewise held the office of solicitor to the auditors of public accounts at a salary of £. 200 per annum, and was permitted to engage in private business as a solicitor.

On the 28th of March 1794, Mr. White was appointed solicitor by the Lords of His Majesty's Treasury, with a salary of £. 2,000 per annum for himself and clerks, and the solicitor was no longer allowed to make any bill of cravings for extraordinary services; but he retained the situation of solicitor to the auditors, and was permitted, to a certain extent, to engage in private business.

In the year 1806, it was arranged that the solicitor should be allowed to charge the salaries paid to the clerks in his public accounts; but that he should cease to hold the situation of solicitor to the auditors, and should be prohibited from engaging in any private professional business. This arrangement was made by the authority of the Lords of the Treasury on 25th September 1806.

The present amount of the salary is the same as in the year 1794, subject to the regulations above stated.

On the 6th of April 1808, His Majesty was pleased to approve of a new establishment, by giving fixed salaries instead of a division of the fees, by which the officers had hitherto been remunerated; and the fees were directed to be carried to a general fund for the purpose of the payment of the salaries, the surplus to be paid quarterly to the account of the consolidated fund, and the deficiency to be made good from the civil list. In the year 1807, immediately previous to this arrangement, the amount of salaries, &c. received by the above-mentioned officers, was

N° 9.—STATE PAPER OFFICE.

THE Salary of the Keeper of State Papers amounted in the year 1793 to £. 160 per annum; but an increase, of £. 500 per annum, took place in the year 1800, by authority of his late Majesty's warrant, dated March 4th 1800, making the salary at present amount to the annual sum of £. 660, subject to fees and deductions at the Treasury and Exchequer, which reduces the actual net receipt to the sum of £. 613 4s. 8d. per annum. The land tax has not, at any time, been charged on this salary.

There are no fees or emoluments of any kind, or any house, or residence, attached to the office of Keeper of State papers.

N° 10.—INDIA BOARD.

PRESIDENT.—No salary is attached to this office;—His Majesty regulates by warrant under his sign manual the salary paid to the several commissioners. In 1793, a salary of £. 2,000 was assigned to the then president; in 1811, after the act 51 Geo. 3, had passed, the salary assigned to the president of that day, was £. 5,000. No salary is assigned to the present president.

Secretary's salary in 1793, £. 1,500; present salary, £. 2,200; viz. addition in 1813, £. 300 permanent; ditto in 1818, after five years service, £. 200; and 1819, after seven ditto, £. 200.

Assistant Secretary's salary in 1793, £. 600; present salary, £. 1,350; viz. addition in 1797, £. 200; in 1807, £. 200; 1811, £. 200; and in 1813, £. 150.

In 1793, there were five clerkships in this department, the salaries attached to which were as follow; viz. £. 500, £. 400, £. 300, £. 200, £. 200. Since 1793, the functions of the several clerks have been totally varied, as well as greatly increased, (especially in the higher departments of the office) and the establishment has been so completely re-cast, that it is impossible to state which of the present clerkships are to be considered as corresponding with the clerkships in 1793. The present salaries and allowances of the five senior clerks are, two at £. 1,000 each, and three at £. 800 each; but the salaries of the five senior of the junior clerks, whose duties correspond more nearly with what were the duties of the five clerks existing in 1793, are, three at £. 500, one at £. 450, and one at £. 425.

Accountant's salary in 1793, £. 400; present salary, £. 1,150; viz. addition in 1796, £. 120; in 1800, £. 100; in 1807, £. 180; in 1808, £. 100; in 1811, £. 100; and in 1812, £. 150.

Precis Writer's salary in 1793, £. 400; present salary, £. 500; viz. addition in 1798, £. 100. But this salary is now held in the nature of a retired salary, by the person who has filled it for thirty-five years; the functions of the office having become useless in the enlarged scale of the department. The office is abolished after the death of the present holder.

All the salaries have been fixed by the king's sign manual; but certain temporary allowances were made to some of the clerks, as compensation for the abolition of the chief clerkship (the salary of which was £. 1,000 per annum), in 1816.

N° 12.—QUARTER MASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE.

Horse Guards, February 28, 1821.

SIR,

YOUR Letter, dated the 19th instant, enclosing an order from the House of Commons, dated the 16th, has been received by me this day, and I lose no time in acknowledging and answering it.

I do not find any document in this office which can enable me to give the information desired; but as upon reference to the Eleventh Report of the Commissioners of Military Inquiry, under the head "Department of the Quarter Master General," every thing in any manner whatever connected with this department appears to be most clearly and minutely set forth; perhaps I cannot better comply with the order of the House of Commons than to refer to such part of that report for the information required.

Upon reference to the documents therein quoted, it will be shown, that the rate of pay at which the quarter master general was to be paid, was fixed by the lords commissioners of his majesty's treasury, by letter, dated War Office, August 31, 1805, and signed W. Dundas. But I must further state, that this Regulation was subsequently departed from in 1816, to the disadvantage of the present quarter master general (who in vain represented that he had accepted his office under the faith of that regulation in 1805, as fixed by the lords of the treasury,) and the rate of pay as now estimated was then resolved upon.

I have the honour to be, Sir, your most obedient humble servant,

J. W. Gordon, Q. M. G.

N° 13.—ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

EXPLANATION OF ALTERATIONS IN THE ESTABLISHMENT, &c.

The sum allowed to the Adjutant General in the year 1793, for the payment of his clerks, and of the contingencies of his office was found, although subsequently increased to £.620, to be inadequate to the purpose; and the measure was considered, in many respects, highly objectionable: It presented a fallacious account of the real expenses of the office; withdrew useful men from their regiments; and did not, in fact, furnish that description of person absolutely requisite for the business of the office, extended as it has been since the period above mentioned, and connected with parliamentary inquiry, and other matters of a confidential and important nature, relating to the discipline and efficiency of the army.

From the 25th December 1799, the allowance above alluded to was accordingly discontinued, and an account of the sums actually paid for the salaries of clerks and messengers, and for other necessary expenses, has since that period been transmitted half-yearly to the secretary at war, accompanied by the regular vouchers.

In the year 1805, a principal clerk, being a civilian, was appointed upon a salary of £.250 per annum; which was augmented by authority of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, dated 16th September 1809, to £.450, and on the 18th September 1811, to its present amount.

The salaries of the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th clerks have been augmented, from time to time in reference to the periods of their services, under the authority of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, dated 1st October 1808.

By the above it will appear, that the establishment of the Adjutant General's Office has been altogether changed since the year 1793. The whole of the clerks now employed being civilians, and having no other emoluments or allowances from the public than their salaries, as specified in the annual estimates presented to parliament.

H. Torrens,
A. G.

RECRUITING DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

EXPLANATIONS OF ALTERATIONS IN THE ESTABLISHMENT, &c.

After the commencement of the war in the year 1793, an inspector-general of the recruiting service was appointed, who, assisted by a proportionate staff, continued to direct the recruiting concerns of the army until the year 1807, when the office of inspector-general was discontinued, and the control of the recruiting service was transferred to the adjutant-general, under whose orders it is still conducted. The assistant, and deputy assistant adjutant-general, who were attached to the recruiting department during the war, have been discontinued, and the immediate superintendence of the recruiting department, since 25th March 1817, has been attached to the inspecting field officer of the London recruiting district, who receives only the pay of the latter appointment.

Thus the establishment for superintending the recruiting of the army is carried on at an expense to the public of only £.1,176 12s. 6d. instead of £.5,976 18s. 4d. when it was a distinct department.

The principal clerk is employed under the direction of the inspecting field officer, in conducting the details of the office, and has no other emoluments or allowances, than his salary, as herein specified.

A house, (No. 17, Duke-street, Westminster) has been appropriated, at the expense of the public, by authority of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, at which the business of the recruiting department is conducted.

IN consequence of the great changes which have taken place in the ranks, duties and numbers of the clerks of the War Office since the year 1793, the above are the only offices in this department that can be stated as having existed in 1793, and having been continued to the present time.

* It is understood that the land tax was paid upon these salaries; but in pursuance of the recommendation in the 19th Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons on Finance, dated 19th July 1797, the salaries established from the 25th December 1797 were directed to be paid clear of any deduction whatever.

N.B.—There are no appointments in the War Office to which Houses have been attached since 1793.

N° 15.—ARMY MEDICAL BOARD.

IN the year 1793, the Establishment of the Department consisted of,

Surgeon-general	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	10s. -
Inspector of regimental infirmaries	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	40s. -

In the year 1810, the above-mentioned officers retired, and the new arrangement was formed of a board consisting, of a

Two principal inspectors	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1,200 -
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	500 -

In this arrangement it was made an express condition, that the new members of the board should not engage in private practice, but devote the whole of their time to the public duties of the department.

In the year 1816, one principal inspector was reduced, so that the establishment now stands,

Director-general	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	at £. 2,000 per annum.
Principal inspector	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	1,200 —
Secretary	-	-	-	-	-	-	-	500 —

There are no other fixed offices of the department, the whole of the duties at home and abroad being assigned as the changes and exigencies of the service require; to the medical staff officers of the various ranks borne upon the general establishment of the army, none being fixed in permanent stations.

Houses are not assigned to any of the officers employed in the department.

That there has been at no time, as he believes, deduction on account of land tax, or any other tax.

And that there has been no house at any time attached to the office of Chaplain General, or any under him.

(Signed) John Owen,
Chaplain General to the Forces.

£. 1231 1 6

In 1806, by minute of treasury, dated 3rd January 1807, Lord Grenville communicated to the board his Majesty's pleasure, that in consideration of the great increase of business since any addition had been made to the pay of the Judge Advocate General of his Majesty's forces, he should receive, in lieu of all payments, perquisites, and fees at any time theretofore received by him, in respect of the office of Judge Advocate General, or of Secretary to the Board of General Officers, £. 2,500; subject to the deduction of 1s. poundage, the additional 1s. and the 6d. as well as hospital.

THE Deputy Judge Advocate General was appointed in November 1793, at a salary of £. 200, (which was fixed in 1769) subject to the deduction of the 1s. poundage - - - £. 200.

And in 1800, in consequence of his Majesty's pleasure, signified by the Secretary at War, it was increased to £. 400, subject to the same deduction of poundage - - - £. 400.

THE Assistant Deputy Judge Advocate General was established by a minute of the treasury in the year 1808, at £. 600, subject to the 1s. poundage deduction - - - £. 600.

Note.—The whole of the poundage deductions from the salaries of all the before mentioned were taken off in the year 1809, in pursuance of the act of 49 George the Third.

- - third clerk	- - - - -	150 —

During the years 1807, 1808, and 1809, an assistant clerk was employed at the salary of £. 100.

These salaries continued till the year 1812, when they were increased by the authority of the treasury, on account of length of service.

The first clerk, after a service of about forty years, (from 1772) to - - - £. 500.

The second, after a service of about nine years, (from 1803) to - - - £. 350.

And the third clerk, after a service also of about nine years (from 1803) to - - - £. 200.

It is to be observed, that the clerks of this department have not had the progressive increase of salary which has invariably prevailed in other public offices according to length of service; and that they have not since 1812 had any increase to their salaries to which their length of service entitled them

The salaries of the inspectors were subject to deductions for the one-shilling duty only, till the year 1817, and the salaries which were settled at that time in consideration of their relinquishing all emoluments on surcharges, were directed by the lords of the treasury to be paid net and without deduction, and in such case are by the act 48th Geo. 3rd exempt from assessment.

HOUSES.

Apartments have been attached to the offices of the first commissioner and secretary since the removal of the office to Somerset House. The first commissioner has resided in Somerset House since the year 1800, when his present apartments were assigned to him.

Nine Commissioners, each - - -	1,000 -	- -	- -	Treasury warrant, 20th March 1801.		In consequence of the destruction of the custom-house by fire, in February 1814, no books have been preserved which afford information as to the deductions from each officer's salary in London for land tax, or any other tax, from which the said salaries may at any time have been relieved, the date of relief, or the authority on which it was given. It appears that certain officers of the customs in London were, prior to 1812, assessed to :— The land tax of 3s. 6d. in the pound. The pension duty of 1 s. in the pound. The civil-list duty of 6 d. in the pound. A contribution of 6d. in the pound to the superannuation fund. But it cannot be ascertained who were the specific officers whose salaries were liable to these deductions respectively, nor the rate by which they were assessed. It appears that some paid all the taxes, some paid part, and some were not charged with any; in some instances the salaries were computed to cover the taxes, in others the taxes were repaid. By a treasury warrant dated the 21st November 1806, certain officers were relieved from the payment of taxes, and certain other officers by a subsequent treasury warrant, dated 26th October 1809. The whole of the officers in London were relieved from the payment of any tax on their salaries by the treasury warrant dated 16th December 1811, and the act of the 51 Geo. 3, c. 71.

III.—SOLICITOR'S DEPARTMENT.

THE beginning of the year 1795 is the nearest period to that in the requisition of which any information can now be obtained regarding this office. In that year this department stood as follows:—

Solicitor, salary for himself and clerks	£.	s.	d.
This salary was subject to a deduction of 1s. 6d. per pound, being £. 13 10s. annually.	180	—	—
Emoluments arising principally from fees charged in his bills of costs, conform to a table of fees sanctioned by treasury warrant of 23d August 1783	750	—	—
Assistant solicitor, salary	80	—	—
This salary was subject to a deduction of 6d. per pound, being £. 2 annually.
This was a sinecure office, and was dropt in 1802, upon the death of the then incumbent, and will not be taken further notice of.
Clerk in the Solicitor's office	40	—	—
In all	£.	1,050	—

This office was regulated by treasury warrant of 10th August 1801, and under that authority the salaries and emoluments of the office in the year ended 5th January 1805, were as under:—

First Solicitor, salary	£.	s.	d.
This salary was subject to a deduction of 1s. 6d. per pound, being £. 22 10s. annually.	300	—	—
Second Solicitor, salary	200	—	—
This salary was also subject to a deduction of 1s. 6d. per pound, being £. 15 annually.
Allowance to the Solicitor for clerks	200	—	—
Emoluments arising principally from fees charged in their bills of costs conform to table of fees sanctioned by treasury warrant of 23d August 1783	850	—	—
Sum	£.	1,550	—

In the year 1807 the then first Solicitor died, and a successor to him was appointed on the 25th April of that year, and the office was again new regulated by treasury warrant of 21 December 1807, and the salaries and emoluments of that office then stood thus:

First Solicitor, salary	£.	s.	d.
This salary was subject to a deduction of 1s. 6d. per pound, being £. 22 10s. annually.	300	—	—
Allowance for clerks	200	—	—
Emoluments arising principally from fees charged in his bill of costs, conform to the table of fees before mentioned, taken upon an annual average of the period from 9th March 1812, down to 5th January 1816	3,009	9	—
Sum	£.	3,509	9
Deduct total sum paid by the Solicitor to his clerks in the year to 5th January 1816, per account rendered by him	560	—	—
Remains net to first solicitor	£.	2,949	9
Add sum actually paid to his clerks	560	—	—
Second Solicitor, salary as authorized by treasury warrant of 21st December 1807	550	—	—
This salary was subject to a deduction of 1s. 6d. per pound, being £. 41 5s. annually.
Total salaries and emoluments of the first Solicitor and his clerks, and of the second solicitor	£.	4,059	9

Nota 1.—That the solicitor has always paid more money to his clerks than the sum allowed for that purpose, and in the year to 5th January 1816, actually paid them £.560 in all.

2.—That the present solicitor was appointed to that situation on the 30th January 1812, and took charge thereof about the 9th March following. He has rendered his bills of law costs down to 5th January 1818, but none of them have been finally passed and discharged, this delay has arisen from his having charged fees on several occasions which were not authorized by the table of fees before mentioned; and these bills have been frequently under the consideration of the Board of Excise, the Lords of the Treasury, and the Court of Exchequer, in Scotland, in which last they are at present in dependence. The Lords of the Treasury determined that the table of fees was to be the rule of charge up to 5th January 1818, and remitted to the Barons of Exchequer to frame a new table, to be the rule of charge thereafter; but as this table has not yet been sanctioned, the solicitor has not yet rendered any bill of costs since the last-mentioned date.

3.—That the annual average emoluments by bills of costs for the year to January 1816, proceeds upon the principle that they were made out strictly upon the table of fees of 23rd August 1783, or taxed down to it.

This allowance subsisted in 1793, but ceased at 5th January 1810, since which the incidents attending the execution of the auditor's office, &c. are paid by the public.

ASSISTANT, OR UNDER AUDITOR.

In 1821, salary per annum, £. 200, with an additional salary per annum of £. 104 10s. in consideration of his having the receipt of a salary of £. 304 10s. to be charged upon incidents, but such additional salary is not to be continued to his successor, per treasury warrant of 18th December 1809, commencing 6th January 1810, total per annum £. 304 10s.

In 1793, there was no assistant, or under auditor, but there was a deputy auditor, who was paid by the auditor out of his salary, to what amount does not appear in the accounts, and received the allowance of £. 50 per annum for incidents attending the execution of the auditor's office, &c. he being the person in the actual execution of the said office. By treasury warrant of 15th July 1794, a salary of £. 160 per annum was granted to the deputy auditor and clerks, the deputy auditor being also paid by the auditor out of his salary, and receiving the allowance of £. 50 per annum for incidents, all which ceased at 5th January 1810. The increase since 1793 is therefore stated at £. 304 10s. of which only £. 200 is permanent.

In 1793, there was a deduction of 6d. in the pound in respect of offices of profit granted by or derived from the crown, with certain exceptions, by the statutes 7 Geo. 1, s. 2, c. 27, and 12 Geo. 1, c. 2; and of 1s. for every twenty shillings of the yearly value or amount of all offices and employments exceeding the value of £. 100 per annum, by stat. 31 Geo. 2, c. 32. These deductions do not appear in the excise general accounts, but from accounts in the office it appears, that in 1793 such deductions from the salary of auditor were £. 36 per annum, and from and after 5th January 1794, such deductions from the salary of deputy auditor were £. 2 per annum. These deductions continued till 1808, being repealed by statute 48 Geo. 3, c. 2, s. 17, from and after 25th March 1808.

V.—CASHIER.

AT 5th January 1795, this officer had a salary of £. 323 3s. net. He was also, according to ancient usage, permitted to retain in his hands large balances of revenue money, which at that period yielded him £. 1,988 6s. 3d. of emoluments. This practice, however, was soon after abolished by the treasury, and the cash ordered to be remitted as close as possible, and no more retained in balance than what was barely sufficient to carry on the public service. The Cashier by this regulation, having sustained great loss of emoluments, applied to the Lords of the Treasury, who were pleased by their warrant, bearing date 23rd November 1801, to allow him one half-penny in the pound sterling on all sums remitted by him to London, and on all debentures issued, to commence from the 30th of May 1799. These allowances, together with his salary and other emoluments, at 5th January 1805, yielded the Cashier a net income of £. 2,970 13s. 0½d.

In consequence of the increased amount of the duties of excise since the period when the above-mentioned poundage was allowed, being considered excessive, the Lords of the Treasury, by warrant of 18th July 1811, were pleased to revoke the salary and allowances formerly granted to the Cashier, and to place his office upon the establishment, "with a salary of £. 2,000 per annum, to be paid net and without deduction, in lieu of the said salary, poundage, and all other emoluments whatever."

The expenses of a deputy and clerks, and the other necessary charges of the Cashier's office, are paid by the public.

By act 57 Geo. 3, c. 64, s. 9, it is provided, that the Cashier or Receiver General of Excise thereafter to be appointed, shall discharge the duties of the office in person, with a salary not exceeding £. 1,000.

THIS office was regulated by treasury warrant, bearing date 27th November 1811, which established the salary at £. 500 per annum; and by another treasury warrant of same date, a further allowance of £. 400 net was made to Mr. Hugh Broughton, present deputy, in lieu of the salary and other emoluments formerly enjoyed by him, "so long as he shall continue in that situation."

This officer has also an allowance of £. 30 as billman, granted to him by Board's minute of 20th April 1810, making in all £. 930 as above stated.

VIII.—COLLECTORS OF EXCISE.

THE Salaries of the Collectors of Excise in Scotland, prior to 5th July 1809, were, in general, only £. 120 per annum; but they were in use to retain considerable balances of public money in their hands, from the interest on which they derived a chief part of their income.

This system being abolished, they received, by treasury warrant of 12th July 1811, fixed "salaries according to the extent of their collections, the official duties, and the expense necessarily incurred in the discharge of them, in lieu of all former salaries, contingent allowances and emoluments of every description."

These salaries coming in place of such fluctuating emoluments, although increasing the apparent expenditure to the public, nevertheless operated, in almost every instance, as a material diminution of the officer's income.

The only Collectors whose salaries and emoluments appear to have amounted to £. 200, at 1793, were those of Aberdeen and Leith, which are accordingly stated as follows:

In the year 1795, salary and emoluments were - - - -	319	8	6

Out of this the Collector pays the expense of his travelling through his collection to collect the duties.
Collector of Leith port, present salary, by the above warrant - - - -	600	—	—
In the year 1795, salary and emoluments were - - - -	241	3	9
Increase - - - £.	358	16	3

No RESIDENCE has been attached to this office from the year 1793 to the present time.

The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, upon the report of the Commissioners for Auditing the Public Accounts, abolished the situation of superintendent on the 12th February 1798, constituted the chief clerk cashier, and gave him, jointly with the comptroller, the charge of the cash, and appointed the principal warehouseman storekeeper. Their Lordships granted the increase of 80*l.* per annum to the storekeeper, in the year 1800, as a remuneration for the loss of his official residence; and the increase of 25*l.* in the year 1804 to the comptroller, in lieu of coals and candles. The other additions were made by their Lordships authority, and were occasioned by the great increase of business in the office, arising from the interests of several individuals having expired, who supplied certain offices with stationery, &c. The salaries of this department are exempt from the land-tax by the authority of a Treasury Minute, at the first establishment of the office, consequently no deduction has taken place.

In the year 1802, all such fees and poundages were abolished by act of parliament, and the following establishment, so far as relates to offices of or above 200*l.* a year, was then fixed by the Treasury; viz.

First clerk - - - - -	300
Second clerk - - - - -	200

In the year 1806, the salary of the first clerk was increased to 450*l.* per annum, that of the second to 300*l.*, and of the third to 250*l.*; and an appointment was made of an itinerant deputy surveyor, at 250*l.* a year, with an allowance of a guinea a day, and one shilling a mile for travelling expenses.

In the year 1808, the salary of the Surveyor-General of Woods, &c. was reduced to 2,000*l.* a year.

With respect to the office of Surveyor-General of Crown Lands, that officer also received fees and emoluments of an uncertain amount, previously to 5th July 1799, when his Salary of 1,000*l.* a year, previously paid at the Exchequer, (together with certain specified fees and emoluments appertaining appertaining to his office, making his whole annual average receipt about £. 1,500 a year,) was augmented by authority of the Treasury to the net annual sum of 2,000*l.*, and no subsequent increase was made thereto.

In the year 1794, an establishment of clerks and assistants for the department of Surveyor-General of Crown Lands was settled by the Treasury, and the under-mentioned salaries and emoluments, of or exceeding 200*l.* a year, were authorized at that time :

Secretary, or deputy - - - - -	500
Register - - - - -	400
First clerk - - - - -	200

In the year 1806 the fees taken in this department were abolished, and a new establishment of salaries was made, which, so far as relates to the offices above 200*l.* a year, was as follows :

Deputy surveyor-general - - - - -	800
Register of crown lands - - - - -	450
First clerk - - - - -	250
Deputy register - - - - -	230
Second clerk - - - - -	210

And in the year 1807 an alteration took place in this department, when the Salaries above 200*l.* a year were settled, with the sanction of the Treasury, as follows :

Deputy surveyor - - - - -	650
Register of crown lands - - - - -	430
Deputy register - - - - -	350
First clerk - - - - -	350
Second clerk - - - - -	310

These establishments remained as before mentioned until the passing of the act of 50th Geo. 3, c. 65, by which the offices of surveyor-general of woods, &c. and surveyor general of crown lands, were united, and placed under the management of the Board of Commissioners of His Majesty's Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues; and under the authority of the said act an establishment, comprising the following salaries of 200*l.* a year and upwards, was fixed; since which no alteration has taken place, coming within the particulars required by the afore-said order of the Honourable the House of Commons :

N° 53.—AUDITORS OF THE LAND REVENUE FOR ENGLAND AND WALES.

The office of Auditor of the Land Revenue for all the counties of England (excepting Lincoln, Nottingham, Derby, and Chester).

SALARIES INCREASED FROM 1793:—TWO ancient salaries of 100*l.* to the Auditor, and 35*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to the messenger attending the audits for this Department, have been invariably paid for a century past and upwards to the present time, without any increase. All other salaries are defrayed at the expense of the Auditor, Deputy Auditor, and two chief clerks, excepting an allowance of 355*l.* per annum paid out of the land revenue by a renewed treasury warrant, from year to year, and distributed to the clerks in augmentation of their salaries from Michaelmas 1806 to Michaelmas last 1820, for their diligence and extra attendance in executing the increased duties of office.

THERE has been no increase of salaries in this Department; but the abolition of an ancient salary of 300*l.* took place on the death of Mr. Auditor Shelley in the year 1805, when, pursuant to the regulations of the act 39 Geo. 3, c. 83, the then Deputy Auditor was appointed acting auditor, and became accountable to the public for all fees and emoluments thenceforth received for and in the names of the Auditor, Deputy Auditor, and clerk, whereout he was allowed to retain a clear yearly Salary of 280*l.* for the execution of the duties of the office, to which no addition has been since made.

SALARIES RELIEVED FROM LAND TAX:—No relief on account of land-tax or any other tax has been granted in either of the Departments of Auditor for England, but land-tax on the salary of 300*l.* to the Auditor for Lincoln, Nottingham, Derby, and Chester, ceased from the abolition of that office in the year 1805.

HOUSES ATTACHED TO OFFICES:—A set of apartments in New Palace Yard, contiguous to the Exchequer, and forming a part of that building, were occupied by the successive Auditors of the land revenue, and confirmed to them by their respective patents. These apartments were given up in the year 1808, by order of the commissioners for effecting alterations and improvements in the avenues to both houses of parliament, when the establishments of the two departments for England were removed to a house which has been since taken down in the execution of a plan for improving the property of the Crown in the precinct of Whitehall, and a second removal to a house in Spring Gardens took place in the year 1819.

SALARIES INCREASED FROM 1793:—THERE has been no increase of Salaries in this Department, but the abolition of an ancient salary of 400*l.* per annum took place on the death of Mr. Auditor Johnes in the year 1816, when, pursuant to the regulations of the act 39 Geo. 3, c. 83, the then Deputy Auditor was appointed acting Auditor, and became accountable to the public for all fees and emoluments thenceforth received for and in the names of auditor and deputy auditor, whereout he was allowed to retain a clear yearly salary of 750*l.* and 90*l.* for an assistant for the execution of the duties of the office, to which no addition has been since made.

SALARIES RELIEVED FROM LAND TAX:—No relief on account of land-tax has been granted in this Department, except the land-tax on the salary of 400*l.* to the Auditor of Wales, which ceased from the abolition of that office in the year 1816.

The Crown Agent; but none of these salaries have been increased since 1793. The Lord Advocate, however, states that by an order of his Majesty's treasury, dated 30th August 1820, the Crown Agent for Scotland was directed to pay his Lordship £. 250 per quarter from the period of the last appointment to the office in June 1819, as a substitute for certain fees in criminal proceeding previously payable, and which were found to amount to a much larger sum. And in like manner the Solicitor General states, that by a minute of the treasury, dated 2d September 1820, and 16th February 1821, the Crown Agent is directed to pay him £. 100 sterling per quarter, in lieu of all fees in criminal cases in which he might be employed. The Advocates Depute have no salaries. By privy seal warrant, 11th April 1713, and treasury warrant of the 20th of that month, they were allowed each £. 50 to defray their expenses in going the circuits. By a similar authority this sum was doubled in the year 1748, when there came to be two circuits in the year instead of one. They also receive £. 200 each yearly in lieu of all fees, whether on the circuits, or before the high court at Edinburgh.—No Houses are attached to any of the offices in the court of justiciary.

(2.) COURT OF JUSTICIARY.

BY privy seal warrant, dated 11th April 1713, and treasury warrant of the 20th of that month, the Advocates Depute are allowed each £. 50 to defray their expenses in going the circuits. By a similar authority this sum was doubled in the year 1748, when there came to be two circuits in the year instead of one, as before the abolition of the heritable jurisdictions. This allowance has never since been raised, and is paid a considerable time after each circuit, upon a precept issued by the barons of exchequer.

We also receive, before each circuit, half yearly, £. 100 from the crown agent. This sum has never been raised or altered in any way since any of us held our present situations; but we have understood that soon after the late lord register became lord advocate, about the year 1807 or 1808, a previous payment of £. 50 was ordered by his lordship to be augmented by the addition of another sum of £. 50, in lieu of fees which were then in use, to be given for drawing indictments. Whether the previous payment of £. 50 be of an older date, or more recent than 1793, we have no means of knowledge. The composition for fees, by which the payment of £. 50 was raised to £. 100 as aforesaid, we have been informed was fixed at a rate somewhat below the average amount of fees then in use to be given for such duty, and the duty has since increased threefold, without any addition having been made to our allowances.

N° 66.—JURY COURT, SCOTLAND.

MR. JOHN STEEL was appointed an Assistant Clerk in the year 1815, with a salary of £. 200 a year; in 1819 his salary was increased from £. 200 to £. 300 a year, under the authority of c. 35, 59th Geo. III, relative to the jury-court. This is the only office in that court, the salary of which has been increased since its institution in 1815, all the other officers remaining, with the same amount of salary granted under the authority of c. 42, 55th Geo. III, which first created the jury-court, or under the act of parliament first mentioned, which rendered the said court permanent.

The officers of the jury-court are prohibited, by the statutes aforesaid, from taking fees or other emolument for the performance of their duties, so that the increase of Mr. Steel's salary was not made in lieu of fees or other emoluments.

The taxes payable by the officers of that court out of their salaries are regulated by the acts of parliament already referred to.

(10.)—GENERAL POST-OFFICE.

FROM the nature and description of the several offices in this Office, as they existed in 1793, and as they now stand, it is totally impossible to furnish a return of that satisfactory description to enable his Excellency to form any accurate opinion upon which his Excellency could ground a report; inasmuch as many offices have been abolished, and others created in lieu of them, at a moment of a general reformation in the year 1807. Under those circumstances it has occurred to their Lordships to forward, for the information of his Excellency, a copy of the establishment of this Office to the quarters 5th January of the years 1793 and 1821; and the increase apparent upon the face of the latter return bears the sanction of His Majesty's Government, by letters under date the 17th December 1807.

Respecting the occupation of any Houses by individuals of this Department, it is necessary to observe, that Apartments from time immemorial have been attached to the situation of Secretary, and the Comptroller of the Penny Post; and that so many of the clerks who attend at early and late hours as can be accommodated with sleeping-rooms have that indulgence extended to them.

OBSERVATIONS.

PROVINCIAL INSPECTORS:

THE office of Second Inspector for the province of Ulster, to which was annexed a salary of £.200 per annum, was abolished in the year 1803; and the office of Inspector General for the four provinces of Ireland, to which was annexed a salary of £.500 per annum, was abolished in 1810. The duties of the first of these offices devolved upon the present Inspector General for Ulster, whose salary has not been increased since 1793, and the first Inspector General for the other three provinces has only a salary of £.300 per annum; so that upon the whole there is a net saving in this branch of the establishment of £.300 per annum.

LINEN OFFICE:

THIS increase was made in consequence of the additional duties that devolved upon the Secretary by the abolition of the office of Inspector General, as before described.

LINEN HALL:

THIS increase was made in consequence of the great extension of the buildings of the Linen Hall, and the consequent increase of duty.

[13.]—DEPUTY JUDGE ADVOCATE-GENERAL'S OFFICE.

THE Office of Deputy Judge Advocate-General for Ireland, as will appear by the following statement, is a new office, commencing from the 24th of April 1820, and therefore does not seem to be comprehended in the above order; but it may be necessary to mark the changes which have occurred in the late office of Judge Advocate-General for Ireland down to the present time.

On the 24th of April 1820, Mr. Paterson, who had been thirty years and upwards Judge Advocate-General for Ireland, with a salary of 1*l.* 10*s.* per day, or 547*l.* 10*s.* per annum, and an allowance of 100*l.* per annum for clerk, office, stationery, &c. &c. retired on 365*l.* per annum, being two-thirds of his pay only, at which time the office of Judge Advocate-General for Ireland was abolished, and the jurisdiction of the Judge Advocate-General of England was extended to Ireland; and the Right honourable J. Beckett, as Judge Advocate-General of the United Kingdom, appointed R. G. Leslie, esq. who had been for nearly twenty years the deputy of Mr. Paterson, to be Deputy Judge Advocate-General for Ireland, and the Department has now become a branch of the English office.

Mr. Leslie, in his former situation, had a salary of 420*l.* per annum, and now enjoys a salary of 1*l.* 10*s.* per day or 547*l.* 10*s.* per annum, with the said allowance of 100*l.* per annum, and is the only permanent officer in the department. In consequence of this arrangement there is a decrease of one officer in the Department, and a permanent diminution of 420*l.* per annum, being the salary of the deputy under the older establishment, which is contingently counterbalanced by 365*l.* per annum, the retired salary of Mr. Paterson. The future contingency of retirement is narrowed from two offices to one.

During the late war, and up to the year 1814, Richard Ellis, esq. a retired officer, held the situation of a permanent staff deputy in the south of Ireland, at a stated salary of 15*s.* per day, with contingent allowances for travelling and subsistence when on duty; and on the death of Mr. Ellis the appointment ceased.

Since Mr. Leslie's appointment, as Deputy Judge Advocate-General for Ireland, he has, on a representation to the Commissioners of Excise, obtained an annual diminution, on account of his office, which he holds in his own house, of the assessed taxes for four windows, amounting to 2*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.* and for two hearths, amounting to 1*l.* 3*s.* 10*d.* making together the sum of 3*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*
